Time is the beginning of patience;

patience is the seed of reward;
reward is the essence of life.

Technical and vocational training prepare Occupational Skills Center students for a prolific future.

Through the sadness of joy and the endurance of hope we come to know the fantasies and realities of life.

Time for study and performance provides the knowledge needed to complete our dreams for the future.

What we inherit, appalls:
muck-filled, dying waters,
chemical clouds that sting
and choke,
a bullet-torn, honor-stripped Brotherhood.

And we must more than utter vain promises to those who shall inherit from us.

HONORS

Australian Meredith Taylor year's visitor

From the land of kangaroos and sporting a refreshing British accent was this year's foreign exchange student, Meredith Taylor. Born in Adelaide July 7, 1951, Meredith took time from studies at the University of Adelaide to visit Clackamas.

Her guardians for her stay were Dr. and Mrs. Ben W. Curtis. Cathy Curtis's parents.

Meredith honored the school by being selected on the Christmas Court, serving as a guide during Earth Day, working on the Cub Shield staff, and by attending many banquets held in honor of various students from abroad.

Sweetheart Ball

The Sweetheart Ball was held at the school gymnasium on Friday, May 10, 1935.
 The proceeds from the sale of tickets were used for the purchase of new furniture for the school library.
 The following are the names of the couples who attended the ball:

Miss Milwaukie

Lovely Miss Cecile Hansen was crowned Miss Milwaukie for 1970 at the annual Miss Milwaukie Pageant in early April.

For the second consecutive year, a Clackamas High senior has represented the city of Milwaukie in the Miss Oregon competition at Seaside.

Oregon's Junior Miss

For the third consecutive year a Clackamas senior captured the Milwaukie Junior Miss title. Marcia Cantwell won this honor in the November contest at the Dogwood Lodge in Milwaukie.

For her talent presentation Marcia portrayed Eliza Doolittle in a song from "My Fair Lady."

After the Milwaukie pageant, Marcia moved on to win the title of Oregon's Junior Miss. During the week-long pageant she repeated much of the same routine in her talent and physical fitness presentations.

Marcia then went onto the national competition in Mobile, Alabama, for a two-week pageant to determine America's Junior Miss.

Perhaps the best way to describe the class of '70, would be to call them the class with all the spirit. They really proved this their senior year by winning "Spirit Week" both seasons. During their junior year they picked up the title as winners of the annual Big Brother's Can Food Drive, and also collected the most money in the March of Dimes, "Tahitian Twilight," the 1969 Junior-Senior Prom, was a total success due to the efforts of the class of '70. Members of the council spent many hours decorating the gym for the exotic dance.

The Class Council combined student efforts to form a class that performed not only to benefit themselves but the entire school as well.

Spirit of '70

In memorium of Melissa Lee Owens

Melissa Lee Owens, who would have graduated with the class of 1970, met a tragic death in an automobile accident at the end of her sophomore year.

Melissa attended Clackamas Grade School. As a sophomore, she served on junior varsity rally. She had been voted to be varsity alternate for her junior year.

ACTIVITIES

Group effort and

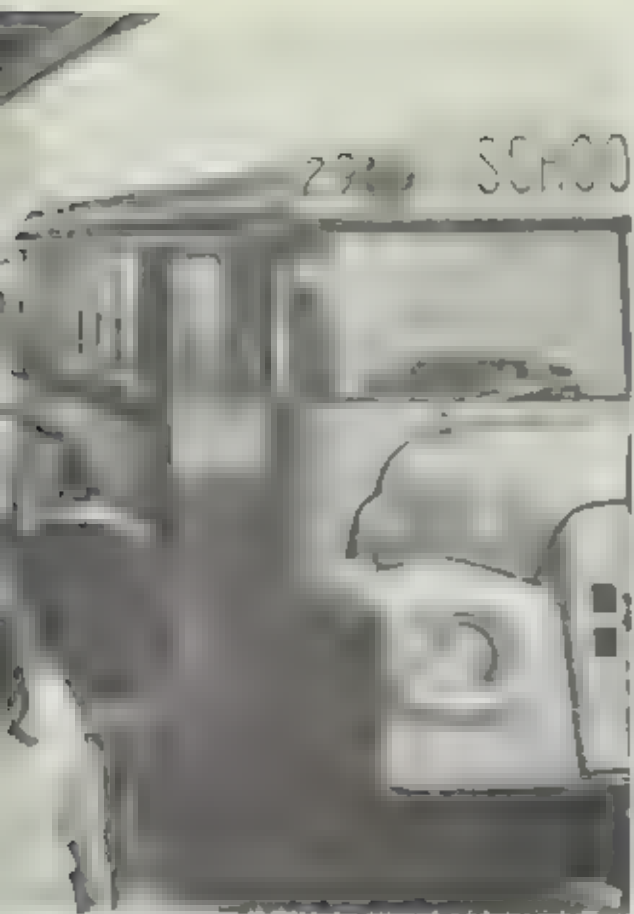

Unity, pride and spirit within a school doesn't just happen. It's something the students discover within themselves and then share with others. CHS is witnessing an all out effort on the part of class leaders, club officers, rally members, and many other students to get the entire student body involved in school activities.

Only a few examples of cooperation are shown here as Mr. Millen stresses spirit and involvement to an enthusiastic freshman class on registration day. By the time the Victory Bell is painted, pride towards the team's efforts are readily displayed by all.

Groups such as IRL are concerned about the individual relating to the world around him. One discussion featured by this group was on Gandhi, a man greatly admired the world over.

The necessary factor in achieving unity, pride and spirit is working together as these groups have tried to do. One student won't accomplish the job alone.

Homecoming abounds with winning spirit

Anticipation and spirit were predominant feelings during the week October 27 through October 31 as students awaited the crowning of the 1969 Football Homecoming Queen and participated in Spirit Week activities.

Princesses Sandi Ledgerwood and Merrie Cole were named to the court in the Friday assembly. Amid the cheers of the student body, Cecile Hansen tearfully accepted her crown and flowers from Queen Daphne Wright who announced 1969's Homecoming Queen. Following the coronation, classes competed with skits and yells for Spirit Week.

That evening in the game against Centennial, Queen Cecile and her court, as well as the rest of the Cavalier fans, displayed their enthusiasm as the team defeated the Eagles 36-0 for a record-breaking win.

Boys' League members, particularly the older boys, are the most active in the organization. Hopefully, others can learn from his painful, horror-filled life of drugs.

Boys' and Girls' Leagues sponsor joint assemblies

To provide greater educational experience, boys' League joint assemblies will receive the girls' students, and the popular

Drug life told

The second joint-sponsored assembly featured Jackson Taylor, former drug addict, who related his experiences with various forms of drugs and crime.

To an attentive audience Taylor warned students to take "two minutes to weigh what you've got to lose and what you've got to gain" before experimenting with various forms of drugs.

Taylor started by "popping pills," but he soon began "shooting speed" and heroin as his resistance to milder forms grew. His heroin habit necessitated stealing $300 a day to support a $100 a day hunger.

Still dependent upon a synthetic drug, methadone, the articulate and grey-eyed speaker recalled hitting his head against jail bars to knock himself out in order to relieve the cramping pains of withdrawal.

"Everyone has something that is important to them," he related, "but when you are hooked on heroin, nothing is important anymore. Nothing but getting that next fix. Time, money, health, freedom, and finally life are unimportant."

Christmas is sharing, laughter, and song

Holiday spirits prevailed as students joined together to share ideas of sharing, laughter and song. The children then raised and decorated Christmas cribs, that's right, cribs of boys' and girls' bedrooms. As in previous years, the students engaged in a competition to see which class had the most beautiful crib. The winning class was the one that had the most beautiful crib. The students were then asked to relate what their cribs meant to them on the true meaning of Christmas.

Winter Homecoming Court crowns victorious season

Once again the crowns were placed as the 1971 Basketball Homecoming Court was selected at the close of a victorious season. Chosen by the student body to be queen was Linda Barclay, and serving on her court were Princesses Chris Sexton and Linda Collins.

In conjunction with Homecoming festivities were Spirit Week activities. Posters bedecked the halls and cafeteria walls. The familiar skits were not presented in the afternoon assembly, but a rousing yell was contributed by all classes. During half-time of the game Queen Linda announced the seniors as winners for the second consecutive time.

Former Queen Lyn Grenz, as part of her official duty, has the honor of placing the crown on lovely and happy Linda.

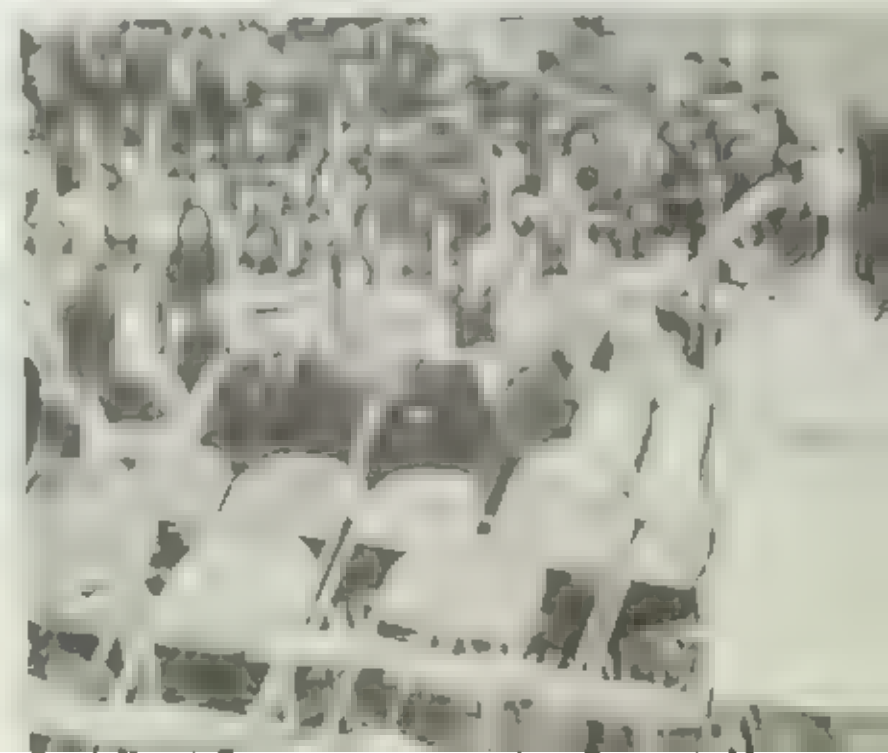

Circus eyes Central American tour

A tour of Central American countries is the focal point for the Clackamas High Youth Circus, in its sixth consecutive year. Preparations for the tour not only include perfecting approximately thirty acts, but raising the necessary funds. Christmas tree sales, bake sales, road shows, and donations are part of the money raising activities involved in obtaining the $18,200 budget.

Under the instruction of coach Dave Williams, students in this class strive daily to improve their skills since selection is made for all performing acts on a highest achievement basis. Ability, however, is not the only desirable quality in the forty circus members. Teamwork, pride, self-confidence, and imagination play just as significant a role in maintaining the image of the group.

Earth Day stimulates student concern for environment

Earth Day, April 22, found thousands of students across the nation participating in activities to make people more aware of environmental problems: overpopulation, solid waste disposal, and destruction of natural resources.

Dr. Squire, a professor at Reed College, and Bob Reynolds, a candidate for the State Legislature, spoke on overpopulation and conservation in the morning assembly. Two-children families were stressed by both gentlemen.

Afternoon assemblies included such topics as DDT, individual responsibilities, plus numerous films. A clean-up and tree-planting session at North Clackamas Park was the biology students' primary contribution for Earth Day.

FINE ARTS

To create a perfect performance takes talent, interest, and sincere effort from every student involved in a Fine Arts production.

Through this department students are provided an opportunity to express themselves in art, drama, music, and speech.

Fall production, 'Stage Door,' portrays trials of theatre life

New York is the city of bright hopes and big eyes, and many a girl has come to this exuberant city to climb the ladder to stardom. Some have made it.

In Stage Door, by Edna Ferber and George Kautman, a boarding house for girls who are seeking stage careers is the scene of the play. Jean Maitland (Nancy Foreman) is successful in her attempt to be in the big time by influencing the right people at the right time in the right way. Terry Randall (Joette Rose) had her chance to reach the big time through pictures but she refused and claimed it just was not like the stage.

Many others lived in the boarding house and their loves were just as glamorous or tragic, but in every group there must be the top few who really make it.

"I have been pinched in worse places."

"Waal git busy!"

"Don't you have something better to do?"

At a very formal gathering Professor Higgins subconsciously bites his lip and anxiously awaits what the evening will reveal. How are people going to react to Eliza Doolittle? Most of all, how is Eliza going to react to people?

My Fair Lady, an Alan Jay Lerner and Fredrick Low musical adaptation of George Bernard Shaw's Pygmalion, tells the story of a common flower girl's successful masquerade as a duchess - a feat accomplished by mastering and spoofing England's language barrier

To Higgins, Eliza is a great linguistic challenge. "What's to become of me?" she pleads, however, now that she is no longer satisfied with her previous role and has an uncertain future.

"There are your slippers, and there!"

A cappella choir shows active participation

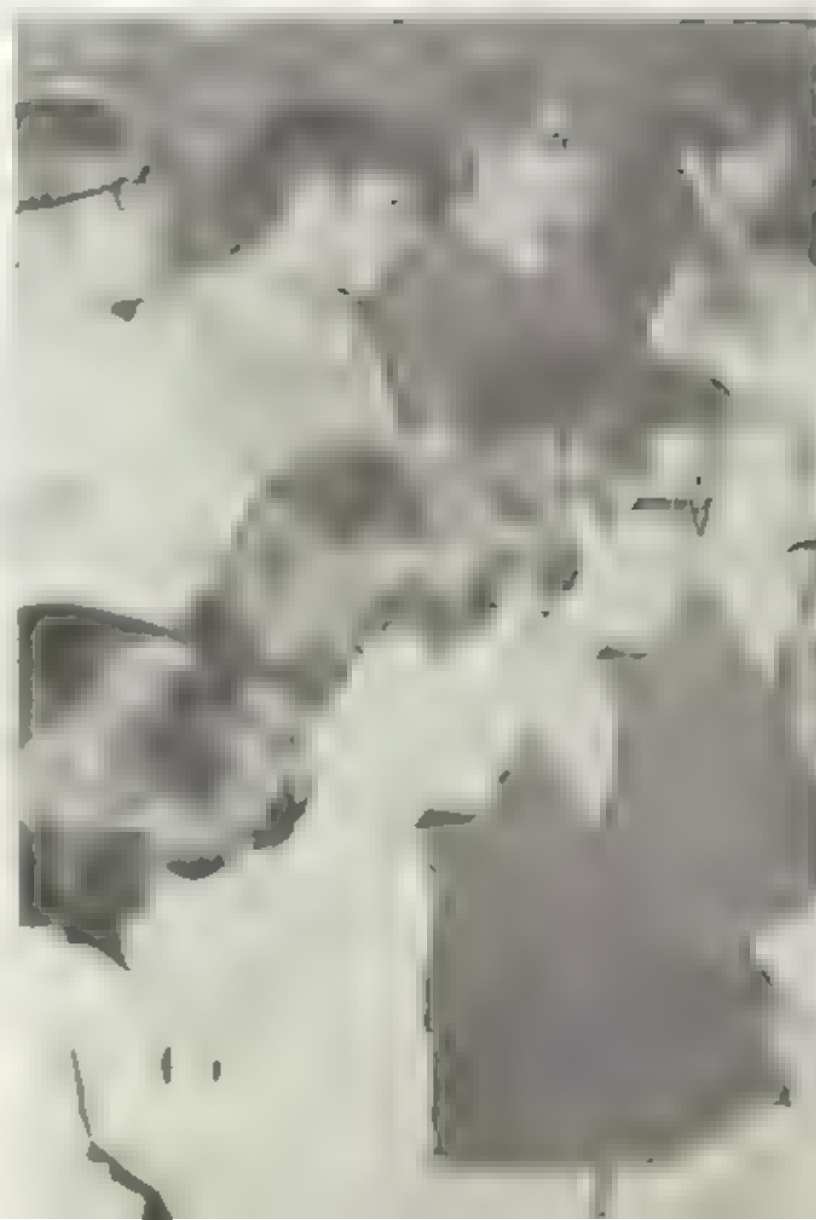

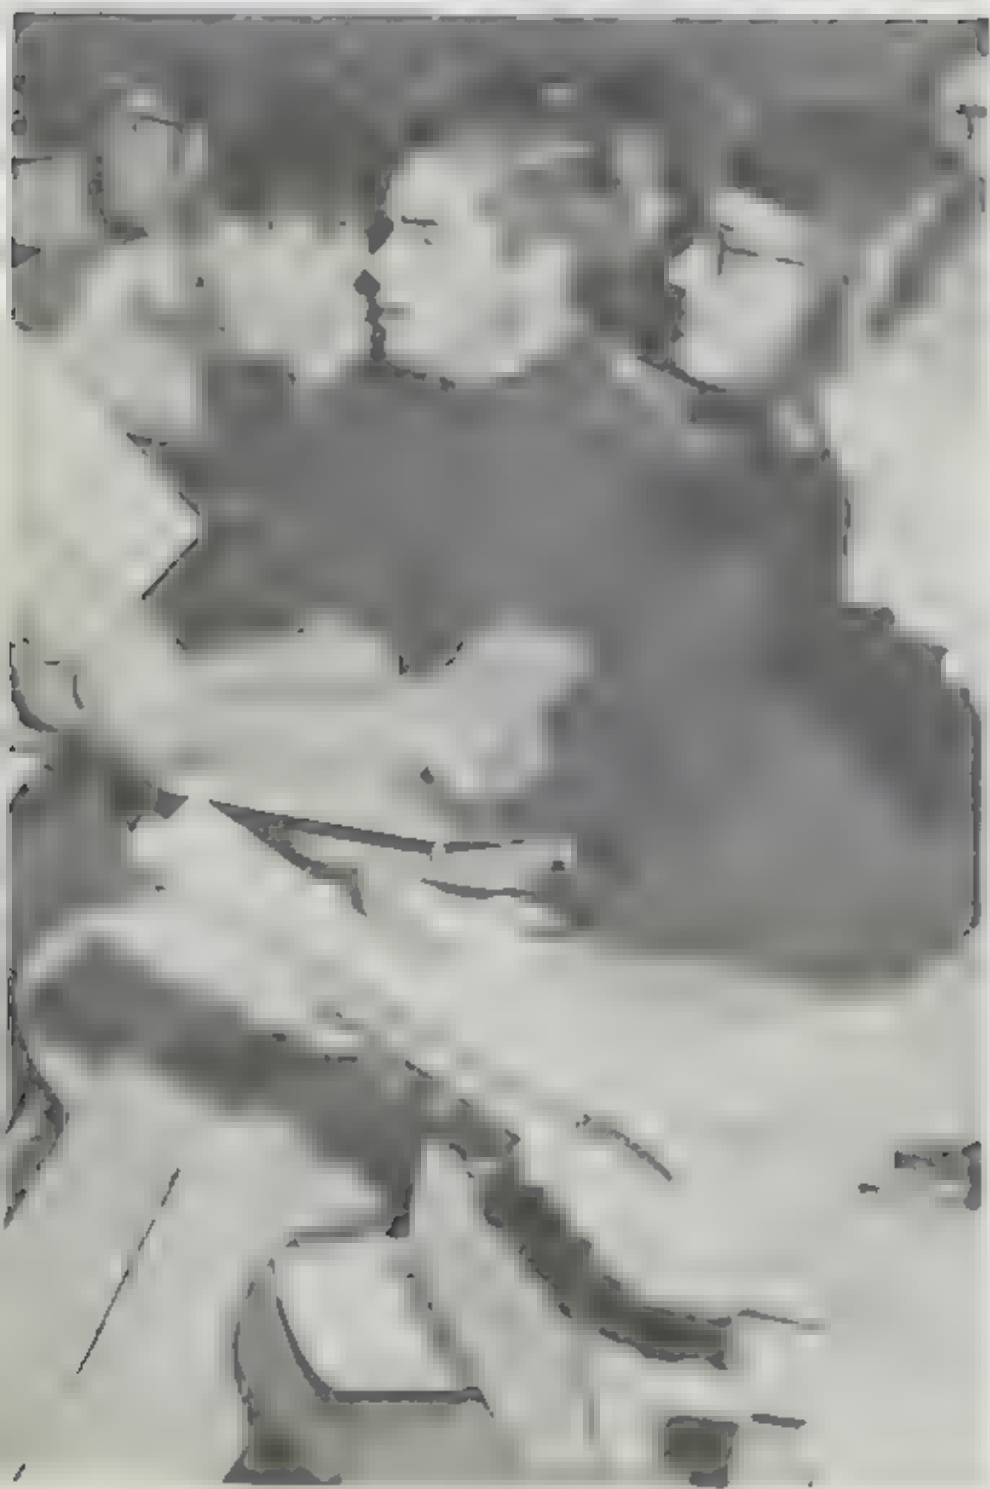

Total participation and unity are combined to make an outstanding 76 member a cappella choir.

Under the guidance and direction of Mr. Don Wolfe, the choir raised money for a spring tour.

A pancake breakfast, paper drives, car washes, garage sales, candy and Christmas decorations sales are only a few of the many fund raising projects.

During the year, A choir sang at school concerts, and also fulfilled outside engagements including performances at several elementary grade schools. During Christmas the choir sang at Lloyd Center plus a show at the First State Bank in Milwaukie.

JV's net 8-14 season

Hustle and high spirit marked this year's junior varsity squad. Led by Dennis Birch's record-setting 160 field goals, the team managed an 8 win, 14 loss season. Dennis also lead the team with a 17.1 points-per-game average, scoring 100 points in one game for a season record.

Nabbing the most rebound was Matt Bridg with a season tally of 100. Matt also established a new J.V. single game rebound record by taking 22 wayward shots from the boards.

Coach Dan Smith, who led the team to a record of 6 wins and 14 losses, also established a record of 60 points in a single game field goal effort.

Placing first in the Claiborne Invitational and the Lake Oswego Invitational highlighted a highly competitive year. First varsity muscled a 8-4-0 record and placed sixth in Metro dual meets and fourth at the District Tournament.

Outstanding individuals included John DeJager (157), Metro first team all-star selection and only member to reach state competition; Lloyd Shipman (191), Metro first team all-star selection; and Leo Clark (Hwt.), Metro second team all-star selection.

CAMPUS LIFE

Faculty, students work together to build responsible citizens

In memorium

God hath not promised—

Skies always blue,

Flower-strewn pathways

All our lives through,

God hath not promised

Sun without rain,

Joy without sorrow,

Peace without pain.

But God hath promised

Strength for the day,

Rest for the labor,

Light for the way.

Grace for the trials,

Help from above,

Unfailing sympathy,

Undying love.

Charles H. Hogue

January 7, 1924 - January 17, 1970

Mr. Charles H. Hogue, boys dean for the past five years, drowned in a scuba diving accident in Hood's Canal, Washington, on January 17, 1970.

Mr. Hogue began his employment in the district in 1951. While at Clackamas he served as a mathematics instructor, football coach, sophomore class adviser, counselor, and educational aid at Clackamas Christian Church, and a scholarship fund are established in his memory.

Mr. Millen, principal

Mr. Newton, assistant principal

Mr. Paschold, dean of boys

Administration strives for unity at C.H.S.

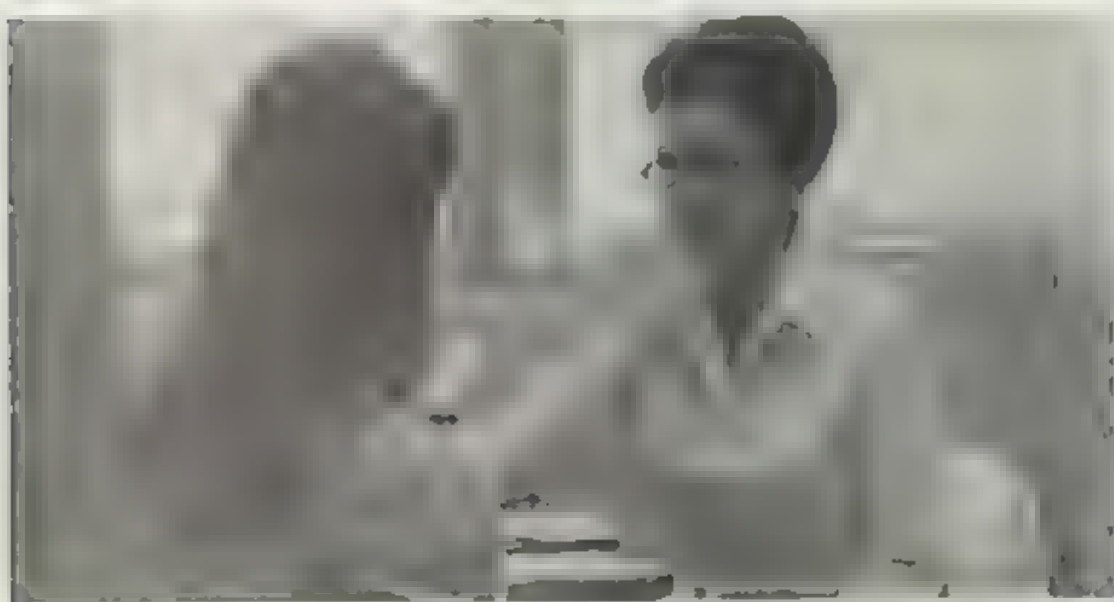

Changes in dress code restrictions, the establishment of a student forum, discussions over open campus possibilities, and admittance of students to faculty group meetings are a few of the areas where a cooperative spirit between students, faculty and administration became a reality.

Mrs. Folden, dean of girls

Secretaries, counselors, nurse keep students' records

Vital services to students, teachers, and administrators are provided by main office secretary, Mrs. Haberlach, above; school nurse, Mrs. Crain, upper left; and deans' secretary, Mrs. Badeau.

Being in charge of library facilities and audio-visual aides keeps Mr. Baker busy. He's never too busy, however, to help a student find materials for research papers, reports, or entertainment. At left, attendance secretary Mrs. Fagan calls a student's home to see that his absence is legal.

Counselors work closely with students to help with present, future
